OAST & TAYLOR LAW FIRM OPENS AS ELDER LAW SPECIALISTS

Firm Comprised of Established Leaders in Areas of Estate Planning, Elder Law

(VIRGINIA BEACH, VA – June 2012) – William H. Oast III, attorney with Oast & Taylor PLC, recently announced the official opening of the firm’s offices in the Town Center/Pembroke area of Virginia Beach, Va. and in Elizabeth City, North Carolina. Another office in Olde Towne Portsmouth will open in the coming weeks.

Oast & Taylor’s legal team has extensive experience in estate planning, elder law, and disability law issues.

The attorneys of the firm include:

- Brian A. Boys (J.D., University of Richmond)
- M. Bradley Brickhouse (J.D., Regent University)
- Letha Sgritta McDowell, (J.D., University of Maine)
- William H. Oast III (J.D., Washington & Lee University)
- Sandra L. Smith (J.D., College of William & Mary)
- Stephen E. Taylor (J.D., University of Richmond)

“All law firms can provide basic legal representation,” Oast said. “Our firm will endeavor to provide legal peace of mind to residents of southeastern Virginia and northeastern North Carolina, while striving to provide the professional legal resources our clients need, precisely when they need them.”

“Each member of our team brings exceptional legal expertise to our firm. Together, we will strive to remain leaders in estate planning, elder law, and providing specialty services for seniors, persons with disabilities and their families,” he stated.

With sensitivity to the ever-changing roles in the family dynamic, Oast & Taylor offers many programs designed to promote fiscal and personal independence and well-being.
